Soviets Take Rail Base Within 44 Miles of Budapest

Capture 200 Other Communities, Seize 4,000 Prisoners in Drive on Capital

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—The Red Army, advancing toward doomed Budapest on a 60-mile-wide front between the Tisza and Danube Rivers, reached points 43 miles southeast of the Hungarian capital today and fought in the Germans in the streets of the large railway junction of Kecskemet.

The thrust into Kecskemet, Hungary's third largest provincial city, 44 miles southeast of Budapest and 85 miles south of the Theiss, was announced in the Soviet daily communique broadcast from Moscow and monitored in London by the Soviet radio monitor.

Further the German radio had said a Russian mechanized column penetrated to the heart of the city of 60,000, and claimed a counter-attack pushed the invaders back to the southeast fringe.

An even closer approach was made to Budapest with capture of Imak, 17 miles southeast of Kecskemet, and 27 miles from the capital, the Russian communique disclosed, while more than 200 communities were taken in this area extending eastward to the east banks of the Danube

More than 4,000 prisoners were taken in the fighting, Moscow said.

The Russian formidable battle-front need not be counted for an assault on Budapest, since it is the city's larger arm, Pest, lies on the east bank. The Germans said it would be defended as fully as Warsaw.

The German radio said Soviet Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky has begun his drive for Budapest Monday with at least 12 infantry divisions, a horsedrawn corps and armored tank brigades, totaling more than 100,000 men, and admitted he had pushed back the German-Hungarian lines at several points. Three Russian divisions were reported participating in the Russian drive.

THE TIMES, London

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The long, grinding task of clearing the Baltic approaches to Antwerp, virtually has been completed by Canadian, United Kingdom and Polish troops, says the Paris correspondent of The Times.

To the north estuary only Walcheren Island, including the fortress of Flushing, remains to be cleared. To the south, in the original Scheldt pocket, organized resistance has ceased.

Canadians, who are now cutting the German escape road between Steenbergen, believe the enemy's battle order has become confusion and that in fact he has no coherent plan, at the moment.

Not a single shell from the Walcheren guns has reached the Canadian transhipping. In the Breskens pocket the total German prisoners now exceeds 7,000—a fact which shows the earlier estimate of the size of the garrison was too low.

Since opening of De Normandy campaign the Canadian total of prisoners has reached 41,764.

The Red Army is driving more rapidly on Budapest. The steady advance in Transylvania now threatens Miskolc Junction. Many Germans are scattered about this region and the Hungarians are fighting better inside their own country than outside it.

According to the Moscow correspondent of The Times, the Czechoslovakian air force has been operating from airdromes in liberated Slovakia for the past six weeks, including R.A.F.-trained men.

Disarmament of French troops inside the rectilinear movement is not likely to create any political crisis for General De Gaulle, says the Paris correspondent of The Times.

The National Council of Resistance, to which these groups are affiliated, has made it clear it will work with the Government, but wants to be consulted beforehand on everything affecting its activities.

The correspondent, denies another story to which United States correspondents in Paris have given wide currency, namely, that there is any fear in France of "British domination." On the contrary most French people want now is a visit from French Chamber.

Attacks on Nazi Plants Continuing

Cologne Hit Twice Within Two Hours

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—Cologne was bombed twice before 8 o'clock tonight by swift Mosquito bombers, bringing to 14 the day's mounting aerial blows delivered against that crippled German citadel starting October, and to well over 2,000 the tonnage of bombs dropped on the city by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. during the last four days.

Approximately 30 Mosquitos struck Cologne just before 8 o'clock. Returning crews reported the bombing was well concentrated.

Nearly two hours before, the Mosquitos plastered the Krupp Rhine River stronghold 20 miles [illegible] the Western Front. The raids brought the bombing total for the month in the history of the R.A.F. and U.S.A.A.F.

The United States 8th Air Force raided Germany with more than 17,500 heavy bombers and with almost as many fighter planes during the month that ended today, losing about 200 bombers and 100 fighters.

This morning R.A.F. heavy bombers attacked a synthetic oil plant at Bostrop, one of the ten in the Ruhr assaulted by British bombers during October.

Bostrop, although working at about 50 per cent of capacity because of Allied bombing, is of particular importance to the German war machine because a large proportion of the output consists of gasoline urgently needed to feed tanks, aircraft and military transport for the Western Front, the Air Ministry said.

The R.A.F. daylight mission followed a night blow at Cologne by more than 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavyweights, which unloosed 4,000 tons of explosives through their bomb bays at the rate of 100 tons a minute, or as much bomb tonnage as Britain dropped in any one night during the blitz here. And the Allied airmen were aiming at a target less than one-tenth the size of London.

Reports from Switzerland today said Cologne and 64 nearby villages are completely uninhabitable and thousands of panic-stricken citizens in Cologne are besieging railways at Duesseldorf and Coblenz, neighboring Rhineland cities, in attempts to escape the torrent of Allied bombs

Submarines Sink 18 More Japanese Ships

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 31 (AP).—United States submarines have sunk 18 more Japanese vessels, including a destroyer, the navy announced today in the wake of a United States naval official's statement that the Japanese fleet "hammered and broken in Philippines sea actions, is a dead body."

The submarines added 14 cargo vessels, one tanker, one large transport and a naval auxiliary, besides the destroyer, to their kills in Pacific and Far East waters, the navy said.

"The pay-off is that there is no such thing as an effective Japanese fleet today," said Rear Admiral Robert Carney, chief of staff to Admiral [illegible]. "Admiral Halsey and the United States Third Fleet."

At the moment it rids Japaness fleet is a dead bird," Admiral Carney said. "They will recover some patient but never again as a first class fleet."

Japanese fleet personnel losses in the Philippines approached 30,000 men, including a few admirals and 200 pilots, it was unofficially estimated here. The figure was based on the conservative assumption about the 80 enemy warships "sunk or damaged in the actions and sought in Manila Bay.

Building Defences

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—Hitler's Norwegian garrison, apparently fearing an Allied sea-borne invasion, linked with a Russian drive from the north, is throwing up extensive interlock defence works, a Norwegian official in London said today.

BACK in Canada is Major-General [illegible] D.S.O., M.C., D.F.C., A.D.C., R.A.F. L. Keller, C.B.E., wounded commander of the Canadian Third Division in the invasion of France, pictured above with his family at their residence, 2480 Cartigan Road, the Uplands. Speaking for the Victory Loan and giving interviews across Canada, Major-General Keller will conclude these duties when he speaks at the Canadian Club luncheon today, and after a few days at home will go to Shaughnessy Military Hospital for further treatment of arm and body wounds inflicted by a bomb. General Keller him last.

Canadian Scottish Has Great Record in Action

"The record of your Canadian Scottish will not be surpassed by any Canadian unit. I say that because I like to equal it," declared Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, C.B.E., wounded commander of the Canadian 3rd Division, who came back to his home in Victoria yesterday.

Before returning to the care of army doctors he will speak at a Canadian Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel today in the interests of the Seventh Victory Loan. He will be greeted at the hotel by a 50-man guard of honour.

"I can't say how proud I was to have the 1st Canadian Scottish in my division," Major-General Keller stated.

He recalled a savage counter-attack by Germans at his command on the Buron on the third day of the invasion, where another battalion was overrun and pushed back, and "the Scottish restored the position in no mean manner."

The first Panther tank Major-General Keller saw destroyed fell victim to the Regina. The second Panther he said had "C" Sqdr. R. written all over it and it was of particular interest because it was a "runner." It had been hit and damaged but was in partial operating condition with its guns still working. Its crew had surrendered.

Chiang Asked That Stilwell Be Recalled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (CP) — President Roosevelt, at his press conference today, revealed that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, head of China-Burma-India area and chief of staff to President Chiang Kai-shek, was asked from that post at the request of the generalissimo, who doesn't like "Vinegar Joe."

The President also said he had been informed by the State Department that the United States Ambassador to China, Clarence E. Gauss, was resigning.

But he said the e was no connection between the Gauss resignation and the recall of General Stilwell which was entirely the result of a clash of personalities between the general and the head of the Chinese State.

There had been frequent clashes of personality between General Stilwell and Chiang Kai-shek recently and finally the latter had asked for the general's recall. As Chiang is head of a State containing 450,000,000 persons, that was a request that could not be ignored.

Mr. Roosevelt said that if he happened to take a dislike to a British diplomat in Washington he would ask Prime Minister Churchill to recall him. That was what happened in the case of General Stilwell.

General Stilwell had done some very good work in his job and the President was personally very fond of him, but it was impossible for one person to take a dislike to another. In this case it happened to be the supreme head of a great State

Churchill Forecasts War May Last Until Summer

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP). — Prime Minister Churchill declined to prolong the tenure of the present Parliament until the Coalition Government, until the House of Commons today "It seems difficult to believe" that the war against Germany can be ended before Christmas or even "much later," and said he could predict the end before early Summer.

"It would not be prudent" to assume that it will take less than 18 months after Hitler's downfall to defeat Japan," he resigned but considered that a election must be held After Germany is disposed of. "Without waiting for Japan's destruction."

Mr. Churchill frankly admitted that "many high military authorities with every reason to judge" were more hopeful than he on the end of the war with Germany. As for Japan, he said his "forecast must be revised every few months by the combined chiefs of staffs."

His picture—in contrast with his declaration only four days ago that "We are in the last lap"—came as background for his demand for another 12 months reprieve for Parliament, already nine years old, and extension of the Coalition Cabinet until after Germany's defeat.

The House of Commons gave their leader small cheers, every indication that his wish would be granted, giving the Government a working majority to his bill to prolong Parliament. Leaders of Opposition parties chimed agreement that the time for a general election had not arrived Arthur Greenwood, Labor Party leader, said whatever Government was in power after Germany's defeat, the Labor party would give it whole-hearted support in prosecuting the war against Japan.

The Prime Minister's election references were interpreted as indicating there would be no general election before next June at the earliest but that one would be held before next October.

He conceded that "political frustration in Germany may bring it (the war) to a speedy end at any time," but added that "against that must be set the iron control of German life in all its forms," which he

Daring Attack by Canadians Leads to Rout of Germans in Holland; Antwerp Fight Ends

Americans Down 2,594 Jap Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP). —Carrier aircraft of the United States Third and Seventh Fleets destroyed 2,594 Japanese planes and probably destroyed or damaged 233 others between August 20 and October 31, the navy announced tonight. American losses in the same period were approximately 300

British and Dominion Armored Forces Smash Through to Maas Near Nazi Escape Route

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—British and Canadian armored forces fought through to the Maas (Meuse) River north of Tilburg tonight and closed within a half-mile of the Geertruidenberg Bridge, one of the main escape routes for German troops fleeing Southwestern Holland.

"The battle for the port of Antwerp is over in our favor," declared a spokesman for Lt.-Gen. Dempsey, commander of the British Second Army. "It is a question how fast and how far back the Germans will go."

Canadian troops to the west, clearing the seaward approaches to Antwerp, charged across an 1,100-yard causeway from South Beveland Island in the face of heavy German fire in a climactic assault on German forces still holding out on partly-flooded Walcheren Island at the entrance to the Scheldt Estuary. Tonight they were within 25 yards of gaining a foothold on Walcheren, and a dispatch declared the position of the Nazi garrison was "hopeless."

Highway south-of the Maas were black with Nazi transport moving toward the four fixed and pontoon bridges left standing across the stream. A thick fog prevented the enemy's outright destruction by Allied planes.

Canadian, British, American, Polish and Netherlands troops pursuing the retreating Nazis across the Maas and flooded Netherlands countryside were forced to abandon all roads and highways as even infantrymen found themselves wading in knee-deep mud the Inland they left hard behind. German rearguards hidden in houses alongside the roads had literally to be blown out of action.

Canadian troops driving northwestward from Breda were within five miles of the Moerdijk bridge 12 miles west of the span at Geertruidenberg—while American forces had a bridgehead across the Mark River in the same vicinity and were only 20 miles from Rotterdam. Up to last night 3,400 German prisoners had been captured in the nine-day Allied offensive.

A field dispatch said there was no doubt that the Germans were pulling out of Bouchwout Holland with all speed and would make their next stand north of the Moerdijk estuary.

Only a few other Nazi remnants still held out on the south side of the Scheldt estuary opposite Walcheren, and they were overpowered by the Canadians into a small harmless pocket between Hoyst and Sluis. Prospects were bright that Allied minesweepers soon would begin clearing the long Scheldt approach to Antwerp.

British reinforcements thrown in alongside American units ago for five days had borne the brunt of a German counter-attack aimed at toward Eindhoven in Eastern Holland helped turn the tide decisively today. By nightfall the Allies had driven

Hint Crisis At Ottawa

Say Climax Near in Dispute Over Draftees

HALIFAX, Nov. 1 (Wednesday) (CP).—The Halifax Chronicle says in a news story today it has learned that gradual demobilization of Canada's home defence army has been "prepared to begin early this month."

The Chronicle states:

OTTAWA Oct. 31 (CP).—Cabinet ministers today assembled in their sixth session since last Thursday, pleughing through a heavy schedule of business understood to range from further Canadian participation in the war against Japan to home front problems.

Speculation continued on Parliament Hill that vital decisions have been made.

Early announcement by Prime Minister Mackenzie King of further Canadian participation in the war against Japan appeared in the offing for partial demobilization following the defeat of Germany was forecast by some sources.

Only note has it become possible to begin detailed planning for the transfer of major Canadian forces to the Pacific and to arrange for the release of those required to continue in uniform after Germany is beaten.

Another decision expected to be made shortly is the reopening of the United States border for the export of Canadian beef cattle halted since 1941 when a beef shortage developed in Canada. Premier Bracken, K.C., of Manitoba, said today he had sent a telegram to the Prime Minister urging that the embargo be removed at once by the Dominion to permit a congestion of cattle on Manitoba grazing ranges.

Sources generally informed on Government activities said the day followed the question of whether men called up under compulsory service should be conscripted for overseas had been examined. The sun

Trapped Japs In Leyte Valley Are Wiped Out

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, November 1 (Wednesday).—United States troops drove up the Leyte Valley to the northwest end of Leyte Island and have pushed from Jaro to within eight miles of Carigara Bay, headquarters announced today

In the Central Leyte Valley in the south, Pinamopoan, a trapped Nipponese force, previously estimated at around 2,000 men, was wiped out.

Japanese reinforcements continued to move in by barge from Cebu Island for the showdown fight shaping up in the northern

In the southern sector, Japanese pockets made weak and unconvincing attempts to break out of the 26th Division forces.

Lieut.-Gen. MacArthur said the advances on Leyte, now two-thirds in possession, have been so rapid that other forces to the rear still were consolidating positions and refurbishing intermediate bases.

Japanese clinging to Calmoo Hill were being blasted from their caves and ably wiped out, the communique said.

Japan's shaky grasp on Leyte by all signs, was slipping fast, but even so the foe was trying to get a firmer hold

The communique laid of American carrier-based planes spotting 26 Nazis on the west coast of Carigara Bay and destroying or damaging them

It is from Ormoc Bay that a road leads directly north for a distance of more than 20 miles to Carigara Bay where the climax appears to be in the building

No More War Bond Sales for Britain

Sir John said that, from November 9 to the end of the twelve a new security known as the 1% per cent Savings Bonds, 1954-1956, will be on sale. The bond is to be issued at par and repayable at par February 15, 1956

Flying Bombs Over South England Again

LONDON, Oct. 31 (CP).—Flying bombs which killed at least five persons when a hotel was wrecked Monday night, were over Southern England again today in the first daylight attack during two months.

Several children were among 25 guests in the hotel A few of the 25 escaped injury. Rescue workers toiled in the wreckage throughout the day in search of those believed trapped. A specially trained dog was dug guided them to the pearl in the wreckage around where the victims were believed buried.

One of the Heinkel-111's which launched the bombs was shot down by a Mosquito.

Only Seven Miles From Yugoslavia

ATHENS, Oct. 31 (AP).—British troops and Greek guerrillas pushing the German rear guard out of Larissa reported within seven miles of the Yugoslav border today

The Germans put a brisk fight in the streets of this town north of Athens. The British and Greek forces routed the enemy and advanced to Aeinaki, 10 miles north of Komane and seven miles south of the Yugoslav border. The German garrison at Arnissa was wiped out.

Russian pressure in Bulgaria and action of Marshal Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia forced the Germans to turn westward and head toward Epirus in the northwestern corner of Albania. It appeared doubtful that those of the German flying out of Greece would ever reach Germany

The Foot Soldier

THE Boys are still marching What Kipling wrote of the song of their feet many years ago in another war is as true today. The "fool" soldier, although he may ride sometimes, is the man who must walk when a necessary, determining factor in the fight against aggression. The men in foxholes, the slit trenches, the jumping-off gullies—they are the men who make or break war. They may be in billets one hour, and the next in the middle of a raging battle where all of the air seems on fire. That brings a man up against the realities of life and death. The only reality is that this war has yet to be won. It will require the combined efforts of all free peoples to do that. Here on the home front, we are being asked to marshal our spare dollars and to send them fighting. We cannot do less. We should be doing much more. Do your share in Canada's Victory Loan today. That will help to shorten the gap to victory.

Raiders Reported Over Tokio Area

"Von Beck" on Radio Urges Reich Revolt

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 31 (AP). A mysterious German broadcast on an unusual wavelength tonight urged the people of the Reich and the German Army to revolt against Hitler

The newspaper Dagens Nyheter, which monitored the broadcast, said the speaker called himself Col.-Gen. Ludwig von Beck and referred to the "Generals' plot" which committed suicide after the abortive attempt on Hitler's life July 20

The speaker also declared that Dr. Karl Goerdeler, the former mayor of Leipzig whom the Nazis reported they had executed, also was an ally.

"When I give the signal you must take every block of houses and every factory instead of all railways, radios and newspapers. The speaker said he had established the underground fighting groups and equipped them with weapons immediately. Prepare to take over the S.S. arsenals."

The speech appeared to be directed principally to the German Army, which implicitly "my comrades on the general staff who will recognize my voice."

The speaker asserted:

"A half-dozen of my former gave orders to shoot me. I escaped."

The broadcaster said that not only were they the Goerdeler Plot but the same was true of Lieut. Graf von Stauffenberg's attempt, the Nazis announced they had caught and executed as the attempted assassin

Britons Read Long Stories on Stilwell

LONDON, Nov 1 (Wednesday) (AP).—British newspapers carried long stories today under their wires and New Delhi date lines about the differences between Gen. Joseph Stilwell and Gen. Chiang Kai-shek

A week ago Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, in an editorial, spoke out sharply against Chiang's rule, declaring it was a fiction that he spoke for a united China and saying that he was saving his forces to fight the Communist troops in China.

the Nazis halfway back through the shell-splintered town of Lissel, 14 miles east of Eindhoven. Hard fighting still raged in the streets of Meijele, six miles southeast of Lissel.

Today's drive by the Canadian First and British Second Armies to the Maas countered last night's counter-attack by their belongings in confiscated baby carriages.

Between 10,000 and 20,000 Germans were estimated tonight to be still south of the Maas and an Allied spokesman said it was probable that most of them would escape.

ROSS MUNRO TELLS OF DARING ATTACK

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, Oct. 31 (CP)—From Ross Munro). — Canadian troops tonight were poised on the edge of the last patch of German resistance north of the Schelde estuary entrance to Antwerp after a South Beveland island carried them to within 28 yards of the flooded Walcheren Island.

Striking westward along the narrow causeway linking the two islands, Montreal infantry braved a heavy storm of German mortar, artillery and machine-gun fire toward a foothold on Walcheren before the last German guns dominating Antwerp harbor poking above the water.

Lt.-Gen. Crerar's Combined Canadian and British forces during the day overran Wartime Housing projects and additions to Yarrows Ltd. This year 43 permits were issued for an expenditure of $67,300.

Lt.-Gen. Crerar's Combined Canadian and British forces during the day overran Wartime Housing projects and additions to Yarrows Ltd. This year 43 permits were issued for an expenditure of $67,300.

To the east, on the subland, American and Polish troops of the Canadian First Army tonight were fighting 1,000 yards north of the Mark River, about four miles south of the Hollandsche Diep, the estuary of the Maas and Waal Rivers, after a surprise dawn attack which completely caught the Germans off balance.

The attack along the causeway from Beveland to Walcheren was the highlight of Canadian Army operations today. From the end of land rising 12 to 16 feet above the water and mud flats on both sides has a double-line railway and bridges running along it, and was heavily cratered from an allied bombing of several weeks ago.

Added to the difficulties of the assault were German mines sown along the flanks and seawards. In the bitter cold of last night Canadian engineers swarmed out along the causeway, filling gaps in minefields for the infantry attack.

Canadian guns and heavy mortars on the western end of South Beveland opened up as the attack went in and Montreal infantry edged out along the causeway. There was no cover for them but the bomb craters and the sides of the dike, and they moved forward in leaps from crater to crater and slit trench to slit trench.

The Germans pested the causeway with hundreds of mortar bombs and shells that tore into the muddy soil, but the Canadians pressed on in the mist and cold.

All afternoon the causeway front rocked with artillery fire which blasted through the fog. At frontline headquarters officers marveled at the progress of the Montrealers as they went right into the face of German fire buried at them from the Walcheren end of the causeway.

This action rates as one of the most hazardous and daring of the entire Scheldt battle.

Most of Walcheren is flooded as the result of R.A.F. Bomber Command's attacks on the coastal dikes, but there is an area between the western end of the causeway and the town of Middleburg in the centre of the island that is not inundated.

A single road from the causeway loops around Middleburg, but advances can also be made over polders (reclaimed land) or across the top of numerous dikes.

Middleburg itself is above water as is Flushing, on the southern tip of Walcheren. The main German positions are around these towns and on dikes and a few unflooded polders. The Germans at the causeway have strong positions on a coastal dike which will be a formidable barrier for the Canadians to overcome.

The Americans smashed across the mark north of Oudenbosch and Polish troops were over earlier to the east, south of the Moerdijk bridges. Both bridgeheads were quickly expanded despite fierce German resistance which developed after the first assault.

Both American and Polish forces were being shelled and mortared by the Germans from beliefve areas of the Rhine, but there was no close-combat fighting as German infantry still was withdrawing.

On the left flank of the Americans, British patrols reached the Mark River along a front of several miles and north of Bergen op Zoom Canadian tanks and infantry were meeting the only stiff resistance south of the Rhine in their drive to capture Steenbergen. Three miles south of the river.

Troops of the German 8th Parachute Regiment hasted their retreat to attack the Canadians in the woods and dike land south of Steenbergen. The Canadians tonight were less than 2,000 yards from the town.

This flare-up was merely a rear-guard action to screen the withdrawal of Gen Gustav von Zangen's Fifteenth Army, and it was believed unofficially that probably two-thirds of 40,000 who were south of the Lower Rhine had managed to fall back north of the river.

MAKES CHARGES AGAINST CHIANG

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP, by Thoburn Wiant) — The Kuomintang Party regime headed by President Chiang Kai-shek has been—and is —more concerned with the inevitable civil war against the 80,000,000 Chinese Communists than in the struggle against Japan.

After nearly two years in the China-Burma-India theatre as a War correspondent, I am convinced the generalissimo and his party leaders are primarily interested in perpetuating themselves.

Democracy does not exist in China. There probably is no more effective dictatorship than that of the Kuomintang Party. There is no freedom of speech, or of press.

There are secret police concentration camps and firing squads for those who dare to speak, or write, or act out of turn.

All of this may sound strange to the people of North America who had thought the Chinese had been fighting heroic battles against the Japanese for the last seven years.

Why hasn't the North American public been kept informed? First, because of Chinese censorship. Second, because Washington held out hope that these could be cleared up. Washington, through General Joseph W. Stilwell, gave Chiang every assistance possible under the circumstances.

But the mass became so bad that General Stilwell finally was recalled to Washington.

As far back as early 1943, one observer came out of China and asserted that lend-lease material were being saved up for the civil war. that approximately 1,000,000 of Chiang's troops were in Northern China, watching and sparring with the Communists.

He said that Chinese in many sections were rudbing only on a token basis, that goods were passing freely on many areas from the Japanese to the Chinese and vice versa, that money and letters could easily be sent into and out of Japanese-occupied centres such as Shanghai and Hongkong, that the unofficial market seemed to be manoeuvred for the benefit of those in power

We correspondents knew all these things, but we couldn't write them. Then.

Launch V.M.D. Eighteenth 10,000-Ton Ship

PRACTICAL demonstration of accomplishments dependent on Canada's successive Victory Loan campaigns was the launching yesterday, by Victoria Machinery Depot Company, Ltd., of the 10,000-ton freighter St. Montebello Park. Picture at the right shows the new freighter her name and sponsor, Mrs. D. B. Anderson, wife of the V.M.D. comptroller. The Montebello Park is the 18th 10,000-ton vessel built by the company for the Canadian merchant ship program. The ship was further advanced, on the ways, than any built previously by the firm. Members of the National War Finance Committee were on the launching platform with Mrs M E Spratt, V.M.D. president, her guests Mr. Anderson's guests and officials of the company.

School Costs Worry Saanich

Alarmed at the increasing cost of education, and the immediate prospect of finding $140,000 for school buildings and additions, which will only partially solve their accommodation difficulties, Saanich Council will approach Premier John Hart and Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, asking for a definite statement on Provincial policy with regard to education costs.

"We have been dealing with this ever since I have been on the council," Reeve J. C. Warren stated, "and still have not got anywhere. Originally the B.N.A. Act set the responsibility on the shoulders of the Province, and now it has been switched on us. If taxes were derived from income, those individuals who have come from elsewhere to work in war plants would be paying their share of our increased costs. Now it is the real property owners who have to pay."

Councillor John Oliver described the school situation as "extremely serious, and if the Provincial Government is not going to do anything, the people of Saanich want to know before the election." He assured the council the U.B.C.M. was solidly for Provincial assumption of school costs.

We want them to recognize their responsibilities. We have definitely by every effort is being made to prevent it getting to the Legislature," he asserted, urging immediate discussion with Premier Hart. Mr. Perry and Hon. E. W. Whiteside, K.C. Speaker of the House and member for Saanich. Reeve Warren appointed Councillors J. Oliver, J. L. Hobbs, R. W. Richmond and Robert Noble to accompany him on the delegation.

At a meeting of social workers held in the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening, the Social Workers' Club was formed. All members are actively engaged in social work in Victoria. Representatives from all social welfare agencies of the city were present. Officers elected were H. E. Blanchard, of Social Assistance Branch, Provincial Government, president; Mrs. Helen Galpin, of the Family Welfare Bureau, vice-president, and Mrs. P. Leahy, Family Welfare Bureau, secretary.

Wins Rank Overseas

Lieut.-Col. Ian Johnston, Canadian Scottish Regiment, received recent promotion in the field to his present rank. Commissioned with the Scottish in 1934, he left his home at Chemainus the first week of the war and proceeded overseas in 1941. He was with the advance until on Normandy beachheads on "D" Day and was mentioned by Lieut.-Col. D. Crofton, now the Scottish O.C., in a communication referring to activities at the Leopold Canal and the Scheldt Estuary, in which Major English's company held a bridgehead for four days and three nights.

Stranded flyers are often dropped cans containing three blankets. The cans later become water buckets or cooking utensils.

Mortgage Burned With Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm marked the anniversary and the burning of the 39-year-old mortgage at Victoria West United Church Monday night when the spacious basement was crowded to capacity with guests for the chicken supper. Among those present were Rt. Rev. A. E. Tuttle, D.D., ex-moderator of the United Church, who conducted the burning ceremony, and Rev. Dr. Hugh and Mrs. McLeod, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Whitehouse, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. McPherson, Rev. and Mrs. William Allan, Rev. and Mrs. James Hood, Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Hicks, Rev. and Mrs. Frank W. Hardy, Rev. J. Currie Thompson, Rev. and Mrs. Clive Langley.

Addresses were given by Dr. Whitehouse and Dr. McLeod and by A. J. Daniels, who was an active official member of the church when the present building was dedicated in December, 1912. A delightful musical program was given, Beckie Ing two numbers by the choir and solos by George Guy, Mrs. Gordon Mitchell, Miss Leask and Mrs. T. Floyd.

Greetings were read by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Jackson, who presided, from Miss B. Hunkin, a former member of the church now in California, and Mr. Shanks, contractor for the building 33 years ago, now a patient in the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The ceremony of cutting the huge birthday cake which adorned the head table was performed by Mrs. Reese, who had made it, and Mrs. Riquebrun. Then came the event of the evening. Mr. Wasmiller, treasurer, read a statement showing how the final payment on the mortgage had been made possible—and overwhelmed—and he handed the handsome document to Mr. Daniels, who called Miss Beattie and Capt. Newell to the platform to assist him in the actual burning, the entire gathering rising simultaneously and singing the Doxology.

The present fine building, from which the debt has now been completely removed, was dedicated December 1, 1912, superseding the old church, built in 1860, which stood at the corner of Wilson and Catherine Streets.

ON a soft, spring night in April, 1944, P/O J. L. Webb, Hamilton, Ontario, was set to fly his first sortie as captain of an aircraft destined to bomb Munster. Over the enemy coast, the aircraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire, tearing several big holes in the fuselage. P/O Webb flew on to Belgium in his crippled craft, as scheduled.

In the bombing run over the target, it became apparent that the hydraulic system had been damaged. The bomb doors could not be opened. P/O Webb made another circuit of the target, while his engineer struggled to open the bomb bay doors by hand.

On the second run in, the aircraft was attacked by a fighter. This was beaten off, and the bombs were released on Munster. Coming up from the target, three more fighters closed in on the damaged aircraft. Two fighters were successfully evaded, but while fighting the third, P/O Webb's aircraft was riddled by enemy bullets. One engine was destroyed. The port aileron and aileron were damaged.

With controls severely damaged, P/O Webb flew back to Britain, landing with only two engines but bringing his aircraft and his crew to safety. Because of superb skill and exceptional devotion to duty in the face of heavy odds", P/O Webb received the D.S.O.

When you think you may have bought all the Victory Bonds you can possibly afford, ask yourself if you may be "calling quits" too soon. How does your perseverence, say, stack up against the stick-to-it-iveness of any one of our fighting airmen, men like P/O Webb?

Our assignment on the home front is not over yet. We still must back our fighting forces until our mission is completed, till we can bring the last man safely home. It is vital that we, too, stick with our task until this is accomplished.

In this Seventh Victory Loan we are asked to buy more bonds than we bought before, to bring complete Victory—quickly.

Playing Safe

Once again from Prime Minister Churchill the free world has been given an estimate of the remaining term of the war against Germany and against Japan. Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons at Westminster yesterday that he did not count upon a political uprising in Germany. The war there, he said, might go into the Spring of 1945, or even to the Summer of that year, at a guess. Against Japan, hostilities might continue until the end of 1946. On both counts, Mr. Churchill is being cautious. He is playing safe.

Perhaps the greater significance attaches to Mr. Churchill's remarks concerning Germany. Great Britain's Prime Minister has extended his estimate there by three months. On the last occasion he spoke he said that the war against Germany could last into the Spring. Now the word Summer stands in its place. It is true that Mr. Churchill cited military opinions to the contrary, but quite clearly he does not himself endorse any view holding out a prospect of an earlier cessation of hostilities. From that position, not a change so much as an added cautiousness, we are at liberty to infer that there is a long and a hard road ahead of us yet in Europe.

The world war is now 62 months old. From this estimate it may approach the duration that Hitler once gave it, not thinking or believing that his words had any potency as a prophecy. He said seven years, meaning that Germany was prepared for that much period of time to world conquest—as undoubtedly she would, had the facts been otherwise. If it requires nine more months to see the United Nations in Berlin, we will be few upon our side who will grumble, or slacken the pace by one hair's breadth. The task must be completed no matter what length of time it requires. If, as Mr. Churchill also says, chance gives to us a speedier victory, that will be an unexpected gain.

Shadow Boxing

It is difficult to escape the conclusion that some nations in their approach to post-war problems are still indulging in shadow-boxing, that they have not yet acquired the live and let-live attitude which will be necessary among all nations before a lasting success can be made of peace. Dumbarton Oaks an unofficial but exploratory conference, broke down in disagreement upon fairly definite issues—as no war to have a voice and how much of a voice in peace settlements. Now a preliminary air conference—semi-official at least, is reported to have approached an impasse over express issues—in this case the binding of a nation in advance to what it will do in the peace.

Perhaps this in inherent to this particular stage of the war. To all minds, victory come first. The war has still to be pushed to a successful and lasting termination. Too obvious bids for national or other advantage in the peace have brought about some sharp repercussions. Free nations must take a warning from that, and go into the final conference with the fixed determination that these will, and must, succeed. We have no blame to apportion to any one nation or group of nations. We are concerned here with the spirit—and that must be the spirit of compromise, such a desire to agree that nothing can upset it.

As we say, perhaps this is not the time for that. When the war is over, all nations will be free to give their whole minds to the making of the peace. We know in advance that that will not be easy. But nothing that is worthwhile ever is easy. It is slow, hard and difficult, but the rewards of full concurrence will be worldwide and of centuries' duration. What we must guard against now are claims that confine efforts that can anywhere be interpreted as circumscribing the life or fortunes of any other peoples. If victory is to mean anything, it must in spirit and in fact be a free world. There is the theme, and in it there will not be room for discords.

Self Insurance

The principle of group insurance is old in the world and well known. A still older form of insurance open to everyone is the dollar that is earned but not spent. To begin with, it does not have to be earned again. Then, too, it commences to work for its possessor, so that presently he may count on the capital sum and its interest earnings. As the capital is added to it it becomes a genuine safeguard against the pitfalls of life, and when it grows to a certain point the interest earnings will become important or even dominant. Some such earning make for human independence a normal enough goal for most individuals, the world being what it is. So the appeal to save, whether it be made in the national interest as now, or purely from the individual's standpoint, is a sensible one.

Conservation at the source of earning power is seldom wasted. Most men confronted with the record of the dollars they have earned and the dollars they have retained would have twinges in the seat of their memory. The discrepancy, even in the most careful and prudent of lives, is tremendous. Under life's ordinary hazards it must be so; while the years themselves bring fresh hazards at every other turn of the road. Men who are the sole support of a family know that. Single men are apt to realize it only later in life, when earning power itself diminishes.

There is here, of course, no appeal to a cheese-paring or miserly existence. On the contrary, that is the greatest wastage of all—in lives that are not really lived. A balance must be struck, that balance being frequently one of reasonableness, so that the most often the elimination of waste. Probably can fill a leaking bucket, nor can any income catch up with over expended outlay. The word thrift evocations it, and thrift rightly practised and applied has built more fortunes and sounder fortunes than those that have been acquired in most other ways. Thrift is the husbanding of what one earns, so that true value is secured all along the route.

The purchase of Dominion of Canada Victory Bonds is not difficult when the facts are examined and known. Small bonds, or large ones, may be bought on the installment plan, by saving on a regular and self-controlled basis. But self-control must be there, and where it is absent one finds all of the excuse which men offer for having wasted their substance in life, for having sold their passing years so cheaply. Given self-control individuals can lay down their own insurance policies, and in the years to come these will work for them long after they are not capable of working themselves. The appeal to Canadians to save harms no one. Here and there among thinking and prudent people it may prove to be the underwriting of their whole lives. Invest in Victory Bonds today.

Hallowe'en

Not even the war could operate yesterday to prevent the walking of certain choice spirits. We do not refer to the hoydens masquerading as ghosts, and whose main purpose in life seemed to be mischief, but to the genuine hobbledehoys, hobgoblins and sundry sprites who became ghosts in the correct tradition. They walked lightly, as if afraid of frightening themselves. They called at front doors politely, as any ghost should. They were appeased with tokens so slight as peanuts, apples, jelly beans and sundry wares that Mother Hubbard would know all about. But they walked, and for them it was Hallowe'en.

The true ghosts, the really choice spirits, played a moving part in many human heart strings last night. They visited homes where there were sad absences—no ghosts to walk, save those of a grimmer kind. They stood in places where many another hobbledehoy had stood—one who is now in uniform and thousands of miles away from his front door step. They brought youth to the aged; tears and smiles to many eyes which could trace behind the camouflage a lost but remembered childhood.

The homes, so far as we are aware, were kind to the hobbledehoys, the hobgoblins and to all of these choice spirits. It was realized that Hallowe'en must go on, even in war—perhaps the better and the merrier because there is war and sadness, and the world most desperately wishes to laugh. So, one thing with another, the genuine ghosts made a night of it, and today most people are the better for that. It is good for the human heart to be taken back to fairyland, even though sometimes it hurts.

Seen in Passing

The itch to write is present chiefly among those who have never earned their living at it.

To them, writing holds nothing but glamor, whatever that means. They do not see the lifetime of study, the hundreds of hours of reading, the innumerable hills that have no tops to them, the long, long road that has neither let, nor pause in it. That is the writer's lot, and the irritation which causes such an itch must be something deeper and more chronic than a slight and momentary sensitivity of vanity's outer covering, its superficial covering or skin. To write is to slave for the hardest of all taskmasters, one's self, in competition with eternity.

It should be remembered that we are living now upon borrowed weather, days which Indian Summer has filched from Autumn, perhaps from Winter itself. If any day now we are met with rain in the face, with chill winds down the nape of the neck, with pains in rheumatic extremities, let us realize that it will be seasonable. Nature has promised us nothing else. Yet so pampered grows mankind that one bright day is taken as an excuse to expect three more. There is no satiety in human expectation, and little lasting gratitude.

The Sonnet

A Sonnet is a moment's monument—
Memorial from the soul's eternity
To one dead deathless hour. Look that it be,
Whether for lustral rite or dire portent,
Of its own ardeous fullness reverent;
Carve it in ivory or in ebony,
As Day or Night may suit, and let Time see
Its flowering crest impearled and orient.
A Sonnet is a coin; its face reveals
The Soul—its converse, to what Power 'tis due.
Whether for tribute to the august appeals
Of Life, or doom in Love's hush returned,
It serve or scot the dark wharf's cavernous breath.

Pacific Theatre

By Frank M. Kelley

Not very long ago an official identified with the United States campaign in the Pacific stated publicly that "it might well take a year yet before the reconquest of the Philippines is completed." That was exactly the time a bit of guessing prevailed over what the air bombardments of Formosa and some islands of the Ryukyu group might accomplish.

In one contender, so some the attacks on Formosa meant early land assaults on the island. The prospect of acquiring airfields needed for operations against Japan proper, others said that the air bases when secured on Formosa would be used for attacks against the China coast in an effort to open communications with Free China. While others thought the bombings formed a part of extensive armament operations covering plans for the actual occupation of an important Philippine island.

Evidently all three guesses had a measure of probability. It remained for Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur to establish the extent to which the plans would be developed. This they did spectacularly last week when the big southern island of Mindanao, where Davao, the principal stronghold of Japan had been repeatedly bombed, was by-passed, and Luzon, the northernmost island on which is situated Manilla, also subjected to some visits by United States airmen, prevailing wind-rain was left for future attention. Its force, well supported in every detail, in invasion of Leyte Island was undertaken and has developed successfully.

LEYTE WEAK LINK IN CHAIN

Leyte Island, lying between Mindanao and Luzon, although occupied by considerable forces of Japanese, was evidently not prepared for defense in anything like the same degree as the other two mentioned islands. It proved another weak link in Japan's island chain. Now secure on Leyte with well-established bases and the line of supply to mainland thus assured the position of United States forces in the Philippines, recovered with comparatively small losses, and it seems that the strategy of the High Command was of a high order in that particular thrust towards Japan, even though attended with a bit of good luck, which does sometimes go with the best regulated planning.

By making gains now upon against Leyte instead of Mindanao or Luzon, the United States Command evidently sought to the Japanese off balance. In their scheme of defence the Japanese evidently thought that Davao and Manilla would be the initial objectives of United States attacks. But whether they lost their judgment as well as their balance of over Leyte is something else again. At any rate, it was all to the good for the Allies when certain Japanese naval units, whether sent on attacking the United States squadron attempting to land supplies on Leyte or else seeking wide sea spaces in the Pacific en route to Japan, chanced to be caught in the narrow waters between and north of the important island of Leyte.

Whatever the reason it was really something the commanders of the United States Navy could hast hardly hoped for at the time, appreciating the manner in which the enemy's ships have been evading any contact with United States vessels since the battles of Midway and the Coral Sea. A measure of it's certainly put those Japanese ships, whatever their objective, within range of powerful sea and air forces which, for many months, had been anxious to come to grips with some of Japan's sea and air power.

The results of the fighting in the Sibuyan and Sulu Seas is responsible for some comment made over the week-end by a man who had a prominent part in the victory. Admiral Halsey is reported to have said "As fighters the Japanese are good, but as strategists they're not even good ping-pong players."

SEA BATTLES ARE CROSSCUT HISTORY

What happened in Philippine waters is current history. With some capital ships lost and others badly mauled, the main Japanese fleet, to some extent of unknown quality and quantity by the war, will be chary of meeting with the powerful United States sea and air forces now operating in the Pacific, now in a position to deal with Formosa and the China Coast when the immediate business of the moment the reconquest of the Philippines has reached a stage permitting concentration to be devoted to China and the final assault on Japan.

From the first that is after Japan took the Philippines and General MacArthur was given the task of retaking them, it was no secret that all other things in the Pacific theatre were secondary so far as the former commander at Manilla was concerned. Admiral Nimitz has cooperated with General MacArthur in every possible way, obviously the easiest way to beat Japan was in first retake the islands which MacArthur promised to return to after he escaped from Manilla. Part of that promise was redeemed when MacArthur landed on Leyte. It will all be redeemed in due course of time. How long that will be remains to be seen. The defeat of the Japanese naval squadrons last week will undoubtedly have some bearing on the date. Japan should be nearer than the approximate time suggested some months ago when Japan had a corrigor navy than she has today.

"Here's Why I Buy Victory Bonds"
Says Frank Sims
Telephone Man

"Victory Bonds, as well as being a smart investment, serve to remind me of two brothers and the year 1939.

"Both had just finished high school and were filled with a burning desire to carve a niche for themselves in the business world. The war came and called a temporary halt to business suits, the lads instead of being dressed in the brown of the Canadian soldier soon found themselves in the Army Overseas Volunteer Army.

"Following months of training, it was discovered that one of the boys was physically unfit. He was subsequently returned to the ranks of the civilian. The team was split. However, the war soon carried the soldier to France, while his brother got his business suit and the chance to carve his niche.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A.P. War Analyst

Allied success in driving Nazi forces from the south bank of the Maas in Holland achieved two goals.

Early use of the Antwerp communications hub was brought within reach of the drive against Germany's Siegfried Line anchorage on the lower Rhine.

And it freed the whole length of the Flushing-Breda-Nijmegen-Arnhem-Ijssel surfaced highway except its extreme western end on Walcheren Island. Elimination of that last obstacle to full Allied use of the road is in progress. With final clearance of Walcheren, fast movement of priority traffic for Field Marshal Montgomery's troops should be possible even before Antwerp can be put into commission as the main Allied left flank supply base.

It seems unquestionable that gesture of that road to supplement the anticipated clearance of Scheldt estuary approaches to Antwerp and its extensive and undamaged dock facilities for swapping craft figure importantly in Allied plans. The considerable port of Flushing on the south shore of Walcheren Island at the mouth of the West Scheldt estuary offers good weather protection for shipping, obviating delay while the estuary itself is cleared of silt or enemy-placed obstructions.

There will still be some weeks of relatively good weather in The Netherlands battle theatre. Allied commanders can be expected to make the most of it now that they have gained elbow room south of the Maas and freedom from danger of an enemy flanking attack.

Ottawa Crisis

Indications that the policy of all service overseas being on a voluntary basis would remain unchanged.

The Ottawa Evening Journal said in a newspaper story, however, that a Cabinet crisis over military manpower today reached a "flood tide" which threatened to end either in a decision to send Canada's home defence army to the battlefronts or resignation from the Cabinet of some principal ministers.

The ministers listed by the Journal as pressing for sending called-up men overseas where Defence Minister Ralston and Navy Minister Macdonald supporting their view were Resources Minister Crerar, Revenue Minister Gibson, State Secretary McLarty and Trade Minister MacKinnon. Air Minister Power also is believed to be supporting the other defence ministers.

Mr. King's position is not known, The Journal said. If he decided the voluntary system can no longer supply an adequate flow of trained troops he might summon Parliament and submit to it an order in council to dispatch compulsory service men overseas.

"If, on the other hand, Mr. King takes the ground that he still thinks the voluntary system is adequate, and refuses to act, the resignations of Defence Minister Ralston and Navy Minister Macdonald, and possibly of Messrs. Crerar, Gibson, McLarty and some others, will be almost certain."

"In that event, either one of two things would happen. Mr. King might resign and ask the Governor-General to call upon Mr. Ralston or Mr. Macdonald, or somebody else, to form a Cabinet; or Mr. King might dissolve Parliament and go to the country on this stand.

THINK DRAFTEES TO BE SENT OVERSEAS

"In informed responsible circles today the belief was that Mr. King would shrink from both of these drastic courses, that, in the end, he will decide to send the Zombies overseas, even though reluctantly."

Usually well informed sources [illegible] that [illegible] a third of the navy and air force and a division of the army would be enlisted for Pacific service on a revolutionary basis after leave in Canada and with campaign pay on a basis similar to that being offered British troops.

One source, who indicated the announcement might be made within 48 hours by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said he understood it would contain no reference to home defence troops.

If, as has been moved in some Washington reports, the division of command in the Pacific war is split to give British, American and Chinese commanders separate spheres of responsibility, it is possible Canadian contingents will fight under [illegible]

The might mean Canadians would forego home leave in order to accompany British forces through the Mediterranean to Indian bases. It would not seem logical that the Canadians be brought home on leave only to recross the Atlantic for the long journey to Pacific service.

Service demobilizers and planners have long been waiting word on the definite size and nature of Canada's Pacific effort so they could start the job of planning for the switch-over and the partial demobilization that is likely to follow.

As for adopting the British plan of providing special campaign pay for Pacific forces, it has been pointed out that Canadian service [illegible] among Allied fighting powers wherever British pay is among the lowest.

The British Government has announced a program which includes campaign pay for operations against Japan and a partial demobilization determined on age, length of service and usefulness in industry.

The allowance for operations against Japan will range from seven shillings (about $1.34) a week for privates to £3 17 shillings weekly for top-ranking officers.

It is believed Canada's partial demobilization would be based on a "first-in-first-out" system with some sort of a compassionate court ruling on exceptional cases. In fact the R.C.A.F. already has embraced [illegible]

Mrs. C. J. V. Spratt, president of the W.M.D., entertained at the launching of the 18th 10,000-ton merchant ship, S.S. Montebello Park, Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. David D. Anderson, wife of D. R. Anderson, also of the W.M.D. completed the ship, christening the freighter as the ship slipped into the water.

Launching of the freighter was scheduled for 2:40 p.m., and at that precise moment Mrs. D. R. Anderson, on the launching platform, christened the ship, cracking the traditional bottle of champagne on its bow, and uttered a simple and sincere prayer for the safety of the ship and the men who will man her.

Following the launching guests of Mrs. Spratt and Mrs. D. R. Anderson assembled in Mrs. Spratt's private office where, seated at her desk, the W.M.D president presented Mrs. Anderson with a handsome silver rose bowl. A huge bouquet of deep red roses had previously been given to Mrs. Spratt by the shipyard workers.

Mrs. Spratt is convenant with all types of ships launched from W.M.D. yards, and she affectionately referred to the freighters as "housewives of the sea," since theirs is the job of supplying food. Speaking of the Montebello Park, Mrs. Spratt said she wished her "many successful voyages, and that she would land her cargoes safely in their destinations. We also hope and pray good fortune may follow her, and all that sail upon her wherever she may go."

Mr. E. Heybroek, National War Labor Board, Ottawa, was chairman for the ceremony which was witnessed by the shipyard workers, many of whom were aboard the Montebello Park, and turned to those ashore as the great freighter quietly and quickly went down the ways.

For Brides-Elect

Miss Dorothy Fuller, who is to be married this month, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Mary Hynes, Moss Street. Twenty guests were present.

In Vancouver recently, where she had been a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal, Miss Fuller was complimented when the bank girls, numbering about 30, entertained at a miscellaneous shower to leave the battalion until I gave him a direct order to do so." Major-General Keller said: "He recovered rapidly and after a week's rest returned to the battalion.

"Major Crofton was in good heart and so was Major Herchenson," the general stated.

Major-General Keller was sounded last before the Battle of the Falaise Gap. He was operated on at a field hospital at Bayeux, flown to England, and underwent further operations and treatment at No. 11 Canadian Hospital.

HAVE TO FACE WINTER CAMPAIGN

Major-General Keller expressed the opinion the present action marked "the end of a phase" of the war.

"What the next phase will be we don't know. But I am quite sure the senior service commanders have their plans worked out and in Canada we will see it unfold. None of us," he added, "want to see our men—soldiers, sailors, airmen and merchant navy men—exposed to another winter with all its hardships, but they simply have to face up to it.

"We on the home front must redouble our efforts, not only to supply them with the comforts which may, so much, but to see that they get all the equipment and material they need," he declared.

He hoped, and said he was optimistic, that the Germans in Europe would be defeated "this coming Winter and Spring.

"Then we will have to take and will take, our full share in the second task—to defeat the Japs."

Local Wholesale Produce Market

Fruit news highlighted the reports from wholesale row yesterday with apples, oranges and grapefruit rolling in. The first carload of the new Texas crop of grapefruit arrived yesterday along with a car of delicious apples from the Okanagan and a shipment of California Valencia oranges.

McIntosh Red apples are due from the Okanagan today, while a shipment of Jonathans are expected Friday. Quartermaster stated that the Valencia oranges, in good supply now, would be short towards the middle of the month. A shipment of Tokay grapes came in today and the last shipment of the season is due shortly.

Eggs are scarce now, said one official of the row, and prices have advanced. Actually there is no shortage of eggs in British Columbia, said the scarcity is only caused by wholesale cut of the province. As soon as the outside market is supplied, we will see a reaction here."

New arrivals among the vegetables included a car of turnips from Edmonton and a car of potatoes from Grand Forks. California lettuce is due tomorrow. Local cauliflower and celery is plentiful.

Success depends, not upon never making mistakes, but upon never making the same mistake twice.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Oct. 31 (CP). — The share market developed strength slowly today and finished around the day's top level, showing a substantial index gain. Base metals and western oils had leaders marking the way.

NO. 273—EIGHTY-SIXTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1944

Winnipeg Teams Gunning for Title

Six Manitoba Hockey Clubs Preparing For Bid in Junior Campaign This Year

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31 (CP).—With four clubs displaying new coaches, six Winnipeg junior hockey teams are busily preparing for a campaign they hope will lead to a Canadian championship next Spring.

Drive for the opening game has not yet been announced, but plans are to have teams in action around November 15.

Two divisions—North and South—will again operate. Inter-division games will be played, with group leaders meeting for the city title at the end of the season.

St. James Canadians, Rangers and Monarchs will comprise the South Division, which has provided five Memorial Cup champions since 1935.

St. James will be coached by Gordon McKenzie, forward with Winnipeg Elmwood Millionaires when they won Dominion honors in 1941. He succeeds Ken Moore, who led the Canucks in the provincial crown last Spring.

He has five veterans with which to mould his current machine. They are Goalie Gordon Harrison and Forwards Walt Chyrek, Clare Parker, Tommy Naylen and Walt Garek. Also eligible is Centreman Harry Taylor, but he has been negotiating with the team management for a release.

Eddie Young and Howie Spencer, forwards.

Both St. Boniface and C.J.A.C. Harry Neil, leader in the Canadian title drives by Mosquito in 1933 and 1937, has been appointed coach of Rangers. He succeeds Bob Kinnear, who took the team in the Memorial Cup in 1943. Kinnear will boss Esquires-Red Wings in the North Division this Winter.

Neil faces the loss of six of last year's performers—Goalie Bop Chipman, Defencemen Bill Tindall and Gord Zaikala, and Forwards Ken McPherran, Jan Mackintosh and Laurie Cowney. All are seeking transfers to Esquires-Red Wings.

Art Barnett and Jimmy Kennedy will make their junior coaching debuts with Monarchs. Both are 21 and led the club's juvenile team to the provincial title last season. Their mainstaying will be Don Raleigh last year with Brookes for the Centennial Inter Eastern United States Amateur League.

In addition to Esquires-Red Wings, other teams in the North Division will be St. Boniface Athletics and Canadian Ukrainian Athletic Club. Esquires-Red Wings will be sponsored by Detroit Red Wings and will be built around veterans Bill Harris defenceman, Stan Crain, are unknown quantities at the present time. The former will be coached by Omar Beckstead, the latter by Walter McIntyre. Brandon, Moosejaw, Hawks Senior.

Hollywood to Start Today

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Oct. 31 (CP).—The merry-go-round starts up again at Hollywood Park tomorrow after nearly three years of war-imposed inactivity.

Top events at the opening of the 34-day race meeting will be the $10,000 Hollywood Premiere Handicap and prospects are that about a dozen thoroughbreds will shoot for the jackpot out of 25 nominated.

Track officials said they expected an initial crowd of at least 40,000. This building war centre is enjoying more prosperity than it probably has ever experienced before.

Top weight of 121 pounds for the Hollywood Premiere has been saddled on J. B. Burnstein's Okana, winner of six straight races including the $25,000 Bay Meadows Handicap. It is unlikely that Burnstein will start the horse in the Premiere however, as he is pointing the animal for the $75,000 Gold Cup and probably won't want to take a chance on the six-furlong event.

Among the 25 eligibles expected to answer the call, however are Burnstein's Gold Mike, Circle V Stable-Bassette Coward and Dupuy's Apple-Knocker and Marriage, Pair Acres' Kind Sir, C. S. Howard's Civil Code and Porter's Cap and several other sound animals.

Sam Snead Coming Back

Expects to Win His Share Again

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31 (CP).—Ex-Colt Slammin' Sammy Snead says: With a little streak of luck he's liable to win somep'n' on the Winter golf circuit.

He doesn't believe two years in the navy will handicap him in getting back into form.

"Course, it'll take a while," Snead said—he peeled off a four-under-par 66 in a Sunday exhibition match here.

Asked if he expected to make inroads on the Byron Nelson-Harold Jug—McSpaden combine, Sammy replied:

"I used to beat Nelson and McSpaden sometimes. I don't know how come I couldn't do it again."

He added, however, that 'any dub can beat me sometimes."

McSpaden, who has quit as professional at the Philadelphia Country Club to serve as national public relations and help representative for the Palm Beach Woodall Company, a New York clothing firm, said he will join Snead and Nelson on the Winter tour.

Snead's return to golf, Jug remonized, is what the game now needs—more and stronger competition."

McSpaden one of the nation's leading golfers said "It is with extreme regret that I leave the Country Club but the offer was too good to turn down."

Five Cage Games Set for Tonight

Five games will be played this evening in the various divisions in the Victoria and District Basketball League. Two games are to be run off at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. At 7 o'clock P.V.'s and St. Louis College midgets meet, followed by a game in the junior group between Senators and K.V.'s.

OAK BAY BEATS MT. VIEW

Oak Bay defeated Mount View, 3-1, in a juvenile soccer match at Mount View grounds yesterday. Oak Bay led, 1-0, at half time on a pretty goal by Lalonde. After the change over, Richard and Golding scored to give them a three-goal edge. Daniels booed home the only counter for the losers about five minutes before time.

JOE LOUIS TO FIGHT

DETROIT, Oct. 31 (CP).—Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, will defend his title against Tami Mauriello, tough-nail with the fists and one of his first acts was to sign the papers for a three-round exhibition Friday with Johnny Denson.

The bout will be an added feature of the Jake La Motte-George Kochan fight at Olympia.

Horse Is Killed On the Mainland

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31 (CP).—One race horse is dead and another may have to be destroyed after being hit by shotgun charges from duck hunters at Lansdowne Park, a suburban race track.

Star Witch was destroyed after being hit some days ago. Lady A.A. was hit on the shoulder yesterday and leg poisoning has set in. She probably will be destroyed.

Both horses, owned by Nels Jensen, of Vancouver, raced on Vancouver tracks last Summer.

MacDonald Electric and Bluebirds scored close victories as the Victoria Table Tennis League opened the 1944-45 season Monday night in the clubrooms at the Crystal Garden. Ozanka and Cubs were tied at 13-all in an unsupported match.

MacDonald Electric, and Dunn Head Battery, army team, had an exciting match, much closer than the 3-0 score would indicate, opening in the league for the first time. Backhand, Dunn star, won five games, and showed promise of becoming a top player. Bronn-Cave won eight for the winners.

Keith Olson played at top form to win seven games from the Cubs as Tully had five out of six.

1139 Coy Engineers defaulted to the Robinson's Grocery team.

Quiet Hallowe'en

Lively masquerade parties for children staged in Greater Victoria schools by Parent-Teacher Association marked Hallowe'en. Householders reported few calls from small masked figures seeking apples and coppers. There was a brisk demand for Kitsumen Club shell-out tickets, part of the Milk for Britain Fund. Police departments received complaints about fences knocked down, gates stolen and garbage cans emptied on lawns and gardens, but admitted there was little serious damage to property. Scattered reports of scarce firecrackers were few and far between.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31 (CP).—The fishing boat Bonny Boy was seized today by the Admiralty court marshal pending a hearing of a claim against the vessel for $14,500 for damage to the Cutter as a result of a collision in Queen Charlotte Auxiliary Sound.

$25,000 Pimlico Special Is Today

Twilight Tear and Devil Diver Going To Post in Rich Event in the East

For those who don't like short odds there will be Mergoo, a colt that sneaked into the mile and three-sixteenths race at the 11th hour winning the Washington Handicap, a qualifying race, at Laurel last Saturday.

As the three were entered for the weight-for-age classic which will feature the opening card at Pimlico no rider had been assigned for the Tear, most consistent filly of the year.

Trainer John M. Gaver chose the veteran Eddie Arcaro to ride Devil Diver, five-year-old from the Greentree Stable of the late Mrs. Payne Whitney. Ken Scrabbins, until recently an apprentice was assigned to Mergoo, owned by the Christiana Stable of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lainger, of Wilmington, Del.

But Ben A. Jones, of Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, delayed naming a jockey for the Tear. Doug Dodson has ridden her in her last two starts, including the Maryland Handicap, in which she was fourth.

All three candidates were on the track this morning for final workouts. Mergoo and Twilight Tear only jogged, but Devil Diver worked a mile from the gate in company of a stablemate. Arcaro said the Diver was "full of run."

The Calumet filly was an early public choice as said the winner-take-all purse to her winnings of $177,165. Indications were that the and Devil Diver would be odds-on, probably at almost the same price, with Mergoo at 10-1 or better by post-time.

Devil Diver will carry 126 pounds, Mergoo 120, the Tear 117.

Men who think of tomorrow
Invest in Victory today!

ONE day the whistles will blow, sirens shriek and bells will ring. It will be a day of rejoicing and a day of thanksgiving. We will have won our war.

Yes, we will win this war. We know that now. But the enemy has not yet surrendered nor has the fighting ceased. Canada's sons must continue to wage war on battlefields the world over. Here at home we, too, must carry on: building the ships and planes, making the guns and shells, producing the food on which our fighting men depend. And, we must continue to help pay for all these things through our purchase of Victory Bonds.

When V day dawns, when our boys come home, we all want to be able to hold our heads high—be able to say, "I did all I could."

Are you buying all the Victory Bonds you can? When we lend our money today we hasten tomorrow's victory.

Men who think of tomorrow invest in victory today!

Keywords for the Day: Stability, conservatism, observation.

Wednesday in General—The day is quite mixed and a conventional one.

Wednesday's Child—Is practical, especially in dealings with others and in matters concerning finances and possessions. This is a better time to continue what is started or under way rather than to attempt anything new of importance.

If November 1 is Your Birthdate—

Many happy returns! Famous persons born on this date include Grandland Rice, sports writer; Stephen Crane, author; William Hodge, actor.

Year Year Ahead—Poise, conventionality and conservatism are called for as there is a tendency to premature changes and upsets which should be avoided. Friends can be helpful and their advice is worth considering.

This original type of astrological feature applies to you on Wednesday. Look for your birthsign and date below.

March 21 to April 19, Aries—How you handle finances and possessions determines the extent of gains or setbacks on Wednesday. Be economical and don't take chances.

April 20 to May 20, Taurus—Handle personal matters and contacts with an eye to self-improvement on Wednesday, but avoid upsets, sudden shifts of moods and attitudes. Don't lose. Malay or regret things.

May 21 to June 20, Gemini—Wednesday requires that you don't overlook the practical demands of the moment and that you find original ways to cope with limitations or inhibitions. Be extra tactful.

June 21 to July 22, Cancer—Friends associations, acquaintances are accented on Wednesday. Be discreet in dealings with them in connection with health, work, service and necessities.

November 22 to December 21, Sagittarius—Other people are apt to be upset or immersed in their own affairs on Wednesday, so do not expect full co-operation and be as self-reliant as you can. Use discretion. Important changes.

December 22 to January 19, Capricorn—Guard against an inclination toward upsets or indisposition on Wednesday. Seek to preserve harmony in your work and concerning recreation. Don't take chances.

January 20 to February 18, Aquarius—Discharge routine and ordinary obligations before seeking pleasure and freedom on Wednesday. Be extra tactful in your domestic or business environment.

Captured Nazi Order Tells Importance of Antwerp Port

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent
WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN HOLLAND, Oct. 31 (CP).—A captured German order, issued by Gen. Gunzar von Zangen, commander of the German Fifteenth Army, showed today that the enemy high command fears that once Antwerp is being used as a supply port, a death blow might be delivered at Northern Germany and Berlin itself before the Winter.

The order, issued the day after the Canadian First Army on October 23 captured Breskens on the Scheldt estuary, Leopold Canal and Zeebrugge, Belgium, told the Fifteenth Army troops that the defense of the Scheldt and the approaches to Antwerp occupy a decisive role in the further conduct of the war and future of the German people.

The order, dated Fifteenth Army headquarters, October 9, and captured in the Scheldt sector, said:

"After over-running the Scheldt fortifications, the English would finally be in position to land great masses of material in large and completely protected ports. They might deliver a death blow at the North German industry and Berlin itself before the onset of Winter."

Zangen continued:

"Next to Hamburg, Antwerp is the largest port in Europe. Even in the First Great War Churchill—First Minister Churchill then was First Lord of the Admiralty—personally traveled to Antwerp in order hurriedly to organize the defense of the harbor, because he appreciated it as of vital importance to the struggle in the North Sea. It is to be feared Churchill's plan was completely carried out by the Daily Goon Club, Mr. Bevin and again."

"The current delays in the enemy's conduct of war are attributed in great measure to the fact he will must bring all his supplies through the improved facilities of Cherbourg."

Bracken Denies Party Disunity

MONTREAL, Oct. 31 (CP).—Progressive Conservative Party Chief John Bracken tonight issued a statement denying disunity existed in the Progressive Conservative party and said the main point "all fair-minded people are asking is whether or not is where does the Liberal party stand on their fundamental security and Communist co-operation."

Mr. Bracken's statement followed by attention that had been called to an article by a Liberal party propagandist named H. R. Armstrong, which appeared in the Toronto Daily Star yesterday dalegated Orville Howard Burton with the headline. Bracken-Drew split talking.

This is just another apart of the stream of venomous and contemptuous political articles which have been emanating from this section of the press.

Certainly I am not in accord with any hate campaign against the Communist Party and I have made that clear on more than one occasion.

But I believe that the representations carried on by the Liberal section of the press, I have seen no evidence of Premier Drew indulging in any hate Quebec campaign. Such construction is a perverted and warped imagination and a jaundiced eye. He has not been the only eloquent in his praise of the French Canadian battalions overseas. In common with others I have also been outspoken in my criticism of Quebec's Liberal leaders.

The Liberal party divided at this very moment in its innermost councils on the really urgent question of providing reinforcements for our boys overseas and still playing politics with it, is sadly in need of clear issues—and also some able apologists. Its policy of co-operation with the Communists needs considerable explaining as well.

Mr. Armstrong's effort this time has overstepped the mark in chumminess and drawing red herrings. The

There is no lack of unity in the Progressive Conservative party and everyone knows that. What all fair-minded people are anxious about right now is where does the Liberal party stand on their home concept army and Communist co-operation.

P.O. Sam Honored Guest at Banquet

Pilot Officer Douglas Sam, 26-year-old Victoria-born Chinese boy, arrived home yesterday afternoon to spend a brief furlough with his family.

Shot down on his 38th operational flight over Germany and listed as missing for more than six months, Pilot Officer Sam was reached when the Allied liberation troops swept through Belgium. He was given a welcome and feted by friends Free French underground forces prior to his rescue.

Last night a banquet was given in his honor at the Mandarin by members of the Chinese Free Masons Association and the Chee Kung Tong. Orderly officers and friends were present.

In an interview at his home at 2511 Blanshard Street, the shy and modest Chinese flyer, asked about his experiences, merely gave a wearied smile and said, "There's really nothing much to say. I'm just glad to be home again and see my folks and friends."

Before joining the Royal Canadian Air Force two and a half years ago, Pilot Officer Sam was a prominent member of the Victoria Chinese Youth Association. He was also well known in local sports circles, having starred with the Chinese Students basketball team and the Pioneer Fruit table tennis team. He was educated at North Ward and Victoria High Schools.

Former Railway Official Passes

MONTREAL, Oct. 31 (CP).—Ernest Edward Lloyd, 70, a former vice-president of finance of the Canadian Pacific Railway, died in hospital here last night after a brief illness.

A native of Great Grimsby, England, Mr. Lloyd came to Canada as an early age. He joined the C.P.R. in 1887 as a clerk in the stores department in Winnipeg and in 1933 was appointed vice-president of finance, a post he held until his retirement three years later.

Praises Cadet Corps

Conduct and fine attitude of Canadian Army Cadet Corps of Victoria was praised by Lieut.-Colonel Preston, M.C., Potrero Commander, Monterey, who returned to his post Sunday during a march past the City Hall to Pirat United Church. Service at the church was conducted by Rev. Dr. Hugh A. McLeod and Maj. G. H. Hamilton.

Tram Jumps Track

Street car transportation was delayed for 30 minutes during the five o'clock yesterday afternoon when a No. 4 city bound tram jumped the tracks at the intersection of Government and Bay Streets, pinning the automobile of William Proman, 2686 Blackwood Street, against the curb and causing considerable damage to the front fender and the steering apparatus.

The street car was proceeding east on Bay Street when the mishap occurred. No one was injured.

Professor to Speak

Prof. P. Pure will speak on "Election Arithmetic" during a meeting of Ward Five Liberal Association, Fellowship Headquarters at 8 o'clock tonight. Members of other wards and their friends have been invited. Refreshments will be served.

"VALOUR"

Two hundred miles from land, under the Arctic's midnight sun, Flight Sergeant Sydney Cole, wireless gunner aboard an RCAF flying boat, spotted a German submarine, on surface, five miles away. Cole, a rookie, reported to his pilot, Flight-Lieutenant David Hornell of Mimico, Ont., who abandoned his homeward patrol and instantly dove to attack.

Two days earlier Hornell had been told that two flying boats of his own type had been shot down by a U boat. He knew that this enemy had more guns, bigger guns and more accurate guns, than any airplane. An unequal battle. Yet Hornell tore in.

At 500 yards, flak and four inch shells raked and punctured the flying boat. The starboard engine was crippled and set ablaze. Flames ate away the fabric on the starboard wing and elevator. Holes bigger than a man's head were torn in the fuselage. The crew choked in dense smoke.

With the help of Co-Pilot Bernard Denomy of Chatham, Ont., Hornell kept his blazing half-a-plane on course. His gunners, from their smoke-filled blisters, tumbled some Nazi sailors into the sea, but a kill could only be made by depth charges dropped accurately, from close in.

As Hornell crossed that 500 yard gap his starboard engine fell into the sea. His pattern of depth charges followed, in perfect straddle, from apple tree height.

As the U boat's shell collapsed, then blew into hundreds of pieces, the flying boat crashed into mountainous waves and bounced 150 feet. A second bounce of 60 feet split the fuel tanks and blue flames fanned across the foaming sea.

The larger of two rubber dinghies exploded from the heat and eight fliers were faced with the task of crowding into another, meant only to carry five men.

David Hornell, captain of the craft, and at 34 oldest man in her crew, joined Co-Pilot Denomy and Navigator S. E. Matheson of Nelson, B.C. in clinging to the side while the other five squatted in the rubber doughnut.

As Hornell could have taken shelter. He refused. fight now he stripped off his trousers, bound What's more he stripped them into a bailing pail. their ends, and made them into a bailing pail.

This was the Canadian Subarctic, June 24th, 1944, where seas are rough and icily cold.

After two hours everyone knew survival was impossible for the men in the water. All must somehow get into that yellow blob of rubber. To do this, emergency rations, fresh water, oars, helmets and every scrap that could be thrown overboard, was ditched. Even then two of the eight had to trail their feet in the frigid sea.

The storm mounted. Waves grew from 12 to 20 to 40 feet. A crested comber upset the little boat and with it went castaways aboard.

The eight shivering castaways righted their little craft and wearily slumped aboard.

Soon Sergeant Fernand St. Laurent of Father Point, Que., began to nod, in swoons, through exposure. His seven buddies rubbed his wet body with all their diminishing strength, while speaking peg talks about rescue. St. Laurent died and, within an hour, Sergeant D. C. Scott of Almonte, Ont., perished in the same way. Both bodies were committed to the sea with the prayers of men who wondered who would be next.

An aircraft of the air-sea rescue service, flying out of the Shetland Islands, spotted the drifters and swooped low with flashed words of encouragement but Hornell and his crew knew what the score was.

They were 200 miles from land. The sea was too rough for any plane to make a safe landing, let alone a rescue take-off.

A boat would have to pick them up and 21 shivering hours were to pass before that boat came in view.

When she did, five men raised a welcoming cheer. Then they noticed that one had not made a sound. That man was their captain. Without complaint, without so much as a whispered farewell, Flight-Lieutenant David Hornell had slid into the silence. He, together with navigator Matheson and Gunners J. J. Bodnoff (Ottawa) and Graham Campbell (Vancouver) were tenderly lifted aboard the rescue vessel while Co-Pilot Denomy and Gunner Sydney Cole climbed aboard with their own strength.

Sailors at once gave Hornell the benefit of their first aid training, but, after five hours, everyone knew that David Hornell, like St. Laurent and Scott, had paid for victory with his life.

All survivors were decorated, while Flight-Lieutenant David Hornell was posthumously awarded the highest medal within the gift of a grateful empire; The Victoria Cross.

In his citation was the declaration that this brave officer could, with clear conscience, have rejected a battle where the odds were heavily against him.

He chose to fight, though it cost him his life.

Here is a story to read and remember . . . Here is a record of Canadian valour, fortitude and sacrifice that will fill your heart with pride and gratefulness . . . Here is a stern and stirring reminder that while brave men fight to the limit—we must all of us lend to the limit! Brave deeds must be backed by dollars . . . by INVESTMENT IN VICTORY . . . by BUYING MORE VICTORY BONDS!

SIR GEORGE SIMPSON SHOOTS THE RAPIDS OF THE FRASER CANYON—1828

Many have stopped to admire the large painting recently placed on the Street Floor above the Douglas Street entrance in the Hudson's Bay Company's store.

The canvas measures 18 feet by 8 feet 7 inches, and depicts a dramatic event during a 3,200-mile trip made by canoe from York Factory on Hudson Bay to the Pacific Coast by Sir George Simpson, who was for thirty-four years (1821-1855) Governor in-Chief of the Hudson's Bay Company Territories.

The incident is presumably enacted in the Rapids of the Fraser Canyon, and was painted by Mr. Harold Simpson, of the Hudson's Bay Company's display staff after the original by Arthur Heming.

Thrills, Romance In "Courage" Role

Three hundred French-Canadian troops were used for the exciting Commando raid in Columbia's "First Comes Courage," the film drama of the Norwegian underground which is now playing at the Atlas Theatre co-starring Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne.

The scenes, made with the full co-operation of Canadian military authorities, were filmed on location at Beecher Bay, Vancouver Island, and they represent actual Commando units in a realistic attack.

The Beecher Bay background has never been used previously for a motion picture, yet it bears startling resemblance to the deep fjords of Norway, the locale of this film story. "First Comes Courage" was adapted from Elliott Arnold's best seller, "The Commandos," and the cast supporting Miss Oberon and Mr. Aherne includes Isabel Elsom, Clare Esmond, Erik Rolf and Fritz Leiber.

Boyer on York Bill

The York Theatre, always known as "The House of Hits," again strikes home with a tremendously well-rounded double bill, headed by "History Is Made at Night," featuring that romantic star of "Gaslight," Charles Boyer, and Jean Arthur.

This picture is truly the year's greatest romantic comedy as can be seen from the topnotch stars playing in it.

The other half of the bill is "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which is a classic of the screen showing us the England we all loved and knew amid heart breaks and humor, featuring Freddie Bartholomew, Delores Costello Barrymore, C. Aubrey Smith and Guy Kibbee.

HAROLD SIMPSON

CADET THEATRE Merle Oberon's role to "The Lodger," the 20th Century-Fox picture which ends tonight at the Cadet Theatre is a radical departure for the lovely star. Merle appears as the reigning queen of the London theatrical comedy stage in the screen adaptation of Mrs. Marie Belloc Lowndes' celebrated best seller based on the Jack the Ripper murders. George Sanders and Laird Cregar are starred in the cast.

CAPITOL THEATRE A new high in the ultra-smart combination of white and grey is reached in a costume which is worn by Esther Williams in "Bathing Beauty," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Technicolor musical at the Capitol Theatre, in which she is co-starred with Red Skelton. The picture ends tonight.

DOMINION THEATRE Fredric March, the Marcus Superba of "The Sign of the Cross," Cecil B. DeMille's spectacle at the Dominion Theatre, began his professional life as a banker but deserted that work to become a stage manager, later an actor. Movie-goers will now have an opportunity to see March in one of his most famous roles in the modernized production of Paramount's great drama about ancient Rome.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Robert Paige's jungle - man make-up for "Her Primitive Man," University's rollicking comedy romance now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres required one hour and forty-five minutes to apply, and another hour to remove.

RIO THEATRE Deanna Durbin's elevenths film starring vehicle "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday," which ends tonight at the Rio Theatre, is one of Universal's most important offerings for the current season. The new film, boasting a large cast which features Edmond O'Brien, Barry Fitzgerald, Arthur Treacher and others, was produced and directed by Bruce Manning.

YORK THEATRE According to Mary Morris, the attractive romantic star who is starred in "Mister V," the comedy melodrama which ends tonight at the York Theatre, good grooming, plenty of soap and water and large doses of common sense are more essential to a woman than a plump purse and a string of beauty parlors.
